Sierra Madre State Guards 2nd Place

The Sierra Madre Platoon of the California State Guard took second place at the competitive drill Monday evening on the Clifton School grounds. The Temple City Platoon won first place and Monrovia third. These three platoons comprise Company C of the 4th Battalion.

Judging the competition were three judges from battalion headquarters, Maj. Gerald N. White, Capt. Ned Tilt, with Capt. Arthur Embree of this city.

W. R. Humphries to Speak at Kiwanis

Robert Green, program chairman for the Kiwanis club, announces that he has secured W. R. Humphries of Pasadena, former Sierra Madre resident, as the speaker at next Tuesday's luncheon.

Mr. Humphries has developed a 35-minute luncheon talk on "Nothing New Under the Sun" which has been enthusiastically received by many audiences in Southern California. The talk is based upon brief readings from newspapers dating as far back as 1492 and he brings with him the genuine, priceless issues, selected from his large collection. He highlights some amazing parallels between major events in old times and our own. Frequent flashes of humor in his fast-moving commentary on the politics, styles and customs of our forefathers keep his audience laughing.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This portion of the paper will be devoted to information for service men returning to civilian life. We suggest clipping this material each week and keeping it for the man in your family who will eventually return.

New Employment, Readjustment Allowances, Apprentice Training.

The Federal Government and the State of California maintain employment offices at 745 E. Green St., Pasadena. There is also an office at 105 W. Foothill Blvd., Monrovia, should it be more convenient to go there.

Veterans desiring assistance in securing a new job should apply promptly after discharge. Special consideration and advice will be given by a competent Veterans Counselor.

If a position in the Civil Service of the Federal Government is sought, apply to the Civil Service Agent at the Pasadena Post Office.

There are two advantages in applying to a regular Government Agency: A. It offers a better opportunity of securing suitable work; B. It is necessary in order to qualify for other Veterans benefits, the most important of which are readjustment allowances.

For temporary periods of unemployment, the allowance is $20 per week. For partial unemployment, the allowance is the difference between the amount earned per week, and $23. For self-employment, when earnings are less than $100 for the previous month, the allowance is the difference between the amount earned and $100.

For these benefits the qualifications are:

1. Discharge must be other than dishonorable.
2. Active service must have been 90 days, or
3. Discharge must have been for service-connected injury or disability.

The Veteran must be registered with and be reporting to the public employment office, and be able and available for work.

DISQUALIFICATIONS:

1. Quitting job without cause, or discharge for cause.
2. Refusing suitable employment when offered.
3. Where there is a stoppage of work because of labor trouble in which he participates or is interested, or is a member of the group which participates or is interested.

A Veteran may refuse, without disqualification, to accept work when the vacancy exists because of labor disputes or where wages, hours and conditions are substantially less than those prevailing in the community.

Veterans under certain conditions may arrange for apprentice training with Government benefits, by applying to the above-named offices.

Veterans in making application should present their discharge papers.

HASTINGS RANCH QUESTION DISCUSSED BY KIWANIS AT TUESDAY'S MEETING

The question of the possible annexation of the Hastings Ranch was the subject for discussion at the Kiwanis club luncheon Tuesday, the program being in charge of Bruce McGill. He called upon R. C. Lewis as the first speaker, who said he could see no objection to the project and there are many reasons why it would be desirable.

The main difficulty seems to be water and he felt that because of differences in interpretation, as for instance, the meaning of "imported" water which may be used, which might take court action to decide, possibly dragging over years, the best way might be by agreement between Sierra Madre and Arcadia, and any other communities affected. Sierra Madre might take the northern part of the ranch and Arcadia the southern, if that were agreeable to the subdividers.

If the assessed valuation of the ranch should prove to be higher per acre than that of Sierra Madre, it would be an aid to our present tax bill.

The ranch owners, Lewis said, will probably want to be connected to the county sewerage system and if Sierra Madre should join it would probably be good for this city and we would also then have something to offer the ranch. It is a question that must be solved sooner or later anyway.

Mr. Lewis suggested that an expert should be engaged to represent the city, to secure the information as to the possible water supply and other facts to present them to the people.

Judge Noren Eaton, the second speaker, discussed the water settlement which was signed by the city and stated it is a lengthy document and subject to various interpretations. He also advocated a thorough study of the court orders by experts and that negotiations be instituted to settle the problem of whether we can get sufficient water or not.

Mr. McGill expressed the opinion that a sincere desire to secure the annexation of the ranch is shown by many citizens and that immediate steps should be taken to ascertain its practicability.

Coxswain Kenneth Sedgman was the luncheon guest of Harry Lange and Cpl. Johnny Senour of Carl Hansen.

Two Important Real Estate Deals Made

One of the largest real estate transactions of recent weeks was the sale of the 35-acre Vogel Estate by Mr. and Mrs. I. Marusch to Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Howarth of Beverly Hills, who sold their home there to Col. Jimmy Roosevelt.

Mr. and Mrs. Howarth will become Sierra Madre citizens within the next 30 days and contemplate making extensive improvements to their new property.

The sale was made through the Carlin G. Smith agency.

Mr. Smith has also closed a deal for the sale of another fine piece of hilltop property, just back of the Paul Carter home, to Mr. and Mrs. Gill Clark of Altadena, who intend to build a beautiful new home in the near future. The land was formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Crouse, 608 Elm.

CHAIN LETTERS EVEN WITH WAR SAVINGS STAMPS ILLEGAL TO MAIL

Chain letters and schemes periodically appear in cycles. Like other epidemics they return in force slightly varied in form to lure the unsuspecting into the noose of gambling. The latest chain letters are using War Savings Stamps as an appeal which apparently is a patriotic gesture, but the following ruling from the U. S. Postal Guide on the matter reveals that the act is illegal.

No. 7—Chain Schemes. Soliciting endless chain schemes soliciting War Savings Stamps when sent through the mail violate the postal fraud and lottery statutes, and persons participating in such schemes may be required to show cause why a fraud order should not be issued against them. Such orders forbid the delivery of any mail to the persons named.

Mrs. Emma Kersting Rites Held Monday

Services for the late Emma L. Kersting were held at the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, Forest Lawn, Monday at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. Kersting is survived by her husband, Charles S. Kersting, residing at the family home in Los Angeles. The daughter is Katherine Kersting, 560 N. Hermosa Ave., and there is a brother, Hugo Walter of Mt. Clemens, Mich., where Mrs. Kersting lived until coming to Sierra Madre in 1906. The Kersting family has figured as an important part of earlier Sierra Madre history. Mrs. Kersting was a charter member of the Woman's club, a member of the Congregational church, and always enjoyed a circle of admiring friends. Mr. Kersting was president of the Sierra Madre Savings bank and built most of the property along Kersting Ct. It is understood that Mr. Kersting has been in the hospital since the death of his wife, resulting from a fall in his home.

John Senour Home Last Wednesday

Two brothers and their parents had much to talk over last week when John M. Senour came home Wednesday from more than 190 days of European combat to meet his brother and family. Weston Senour of Anchorage, Alaska, about 40 miles from Berlin, when fighting ceased. He said he did not go into Berlin for he was told that there was nothing to see, it was only rubble.

Mr. and Mrs. Weston Senour and daughter Jeanne left Sunday for Seattle from where they flew back to Alaska after a month's vacation in Sierra Madre. The brothers had not seen each other in three years.

HOUSEHOLD FATS SALVAGE DOWN IN MANY SOUTHLAND CITIES, BUT NOT IN SIERRA MADRE

Although many communities have fallen far short of their fat salvage, Sierra Madre, as always, holds a record of 154 per cent for the month of June. The quota was 623 pounds and the amount turned in was 962 pounds. Nearly a thousand pounds of salvage fat is remarkable for a city of 4800 people.

Meat shortages teamed up with hot weather to hamper Southland housewives efforts in grease salvage collection, with the result that Southern California collections in June showed a decline of 39,608 precious pounds of war fats below the May record.

Edward B. Zane, War Production Board salvage chief, said the total for the month was 658,276 pounds, or 105 per cent of quota.

"We've been above quota ever since OPA started giving red points for salvaged fats," the WPB salvage chief commented, "and at one time we hit 146 per cent."

"Collections have been declining, however, since last March, when the scarcity of meat, particularly pork, began to cut down on what the average family could produce above its own needs in cooking."

"This is unfortunate because foreign supplies of fats and oils have not improved, while the Pacific war needs are running at an all-time high."

"Part of this loss might be regained if any individual who haven't yet joined in the fats salvage campaign would begin saving every drop of surplus kitchen grease and turn it in to their butcher."

Annexation of the Hastings Ranch

By SIDNEY J. BEER

In approaching the question, "What influence will the subdivision of the Hastings Ranch have upon the economic life of the city of Sierra Madre," we cannot discuss this topic too briefly or lightly in a paragraph or two, so of necessity we must seek out the issues involved and direct our attention to these issues.

The pros and cons of this annexation have been considered with regard to the availability of water and schooling needs and some thought has been given to the growth of business in that direction, but there are a number of other important factors to be taken into account. Each factor a problem to be split in separate parts. Each perhaps a problem in itself. It is only by this orderly splitting into component parts that we can reach a sound conclusion.

The wider and larger growth of Sierra Madre, through annexation of the Hastings property, will mean an increased population and a closer relationship with adjacent populated areas. As previously pointed out, Sierra Madre is built at the end of the line, so to speak. It will therefore always be necessary to pass through this new development to reach the present business district. Without doubt hundreds of newcomers will locate in this new subdivision. These newcomers will have a fairly large purchasing power, and as business always follows the path of money, as the bee is always seeking honey, it is logical to believe that a section of this development will be industrialized by more modern types of retail and chain stores.

This new population can demand and get a central distribution from which they may be served. Sources of supply will be closer to retailer and consumer, thereby reducing delivery cost by truck or private automobile.

Sierra Madre Man Gives His Time for War Work

Most of us feel that we are doing our duty when we buy War Bonds. That is good in itself, but it is nothing more than a fine investment.

But there are those who have toiled in the Red Cross, War Loan drives, clothing collections, etc., and given hours, days and weeks to the war effort with no thought of recompense.

One of these is M. Penn Phillips of this city, who volunteered his services as a $1 a year man when the War Savings program started in 1942, and has given practically his entire time since to that work. He is Vice-Chairman of the Treasury War Finance Committee for Southern California and has had charge of the organization of the counties in the State and has made a splendid record. His work of organizing the farm communities has been especially noteworthy.

With Howard D. Mills, Western Regional Director, Mr. Phillips has been in Washington recently to attend a series of meetings with Treasury officials to make plans for the Eighth War Loan drive which is coming up in the near future.

Mr. Penn also finds a little pleasure mixed up with the hard work, as he attended the commissioning ceremonies Sunday of the cruiser Los Angeles, paid for by the purchase of War Bonds by the people of Los Angeles county in July, 1943, when the quota of $80,000,000 was doubled.

LOCAL COUPLE CELEBRATE 60TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY SUNDAY

Lincoln C. Kain presented his bride of 60 years with a beautiful corsage of pink rose buds to wear with her lace gown of the same shade last Sunday when the couple received congratulations during a garden reception and dinner held in their honor. Old-fashioned flowers decorated the tables and the large wedding cake and a shower of rice gave a real nuptial atmosphere. The guest list included friends and relatives from the city, Long Beach and Los Angeles. The affair was held at the home of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Haymaker, 59 N. Sunnyside.

EVERY LEGION OFFICER WORLD WAR II VETERAN

To make certain that the present American Legion organization renders the greatest possible service to veterans of World War II it is planned to elect the next Commander of the Sierra Madre Post, and as many other post officers as possible, from the ranks of World War II veterans.

All honorably discharged veterans of World War II are urged to attend the next meeting of Sierra Madre Post No. 297 which will be held Monday, August 6, at 8 p.m. in the basement of the City Hall. Election of officers will be held at that time.

Dr. Graeme Smith Speaks at Bethany Sunday Evening

At the Bethany church next Sunday evening, July 29, 7:30 p.m., the Rev. Dr. Graeme Smith, pastor of the Staub Memorial Congregational church, Portland, Ore., will speak. Dr. Smith is one of our local boys, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Smith, 609 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. After graduating from our local school he completed his education for the Christian ministry at the Westminster Seminary, Philadelphia, Pa. He has been located in Portland for the last three years.

SHIRLEY ANDERSON, First flutist with the Orange Co. Youth Symphony Orchestra

Sunday afternoon, July 29, the Orange County Youth Symphony Orchestra will appear at the Gold Shell, Memorial Park Amphitheatre in Pasadena at the twilight hour, 7 p.m. The orchestra is comprised of 70 young people under the baton of Norma L. Perkins.

Youthful Musician Appears on "Finals" of Talent Hunt Wed.

Barbara Bowman, talented pianist of Sierra Madre, played in the "Talent Hunt" yesterday afternoon in the Civic Auditorium at Pasadena. Barbara's technique was recognized when she was given the opportunity of playing in the final contest without going through the preliminary tryouts. From her recent audition she was placed directly in the finals.

There were 42 musicians who appeared during the afternoon and according to the applause response her only competition was a young lady, 19, a semi-professional who has studied 10 years. Barbara has been a student under the teaching of Mrs. George Morgridge for the past two years. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Bowman. She played for the approval of the judges, "Malaguena" by Leucana.

The "Talent Hunt" is sponsored by the Exchange club and Department of Recreation of the city of Pasadena and yesterday's program which brought to the public talent of every art was the 11th Annual.

Miss Doan with Magic Board at Bethany Sunday

One of the features of the program Sunday evening at Bethany church will be the presentation of Electro-felt Bible pictures by Miss Eleanor Doan of New York City. This "magic board" is the only one of its kind on the West Coast for visual teaching. Miss Doan is an author of text books and children's books and has been engaged in children's work throughout the U.S. and Canada.

WHERE YOU CAN GO ON FIVE GALLONS OF GAS

In these days of gasoline rationing any vacation suggestions should be welcome. Many people are sitting down on their back porches and saying they can't go anywhere, but others are finding that there are many interesting places to go on their A cards.

Have you any suggestions?

Dan Reib comes forward with the first one. Although head of the gasoline ration panel of the Monrovia Board, he hasn't been out of his home over night in two years until Saturday when he took his first vacation—to Mt. Wilson and stayed over night. He and his family had a comfortable cabin, under the trees, with a delightfully cool temperature, quiet surroundings, and deer, rabbits, squirrels, chipmunks and 65 varieties of birds for companions.

It is just an easy hour and a half ride, and just 30 miles from Sierra Madre to the top. Mt. Wilson is even in the Sierra Madre phone exchange.

Read Fire Flames this week. Jim Heasley has another suggestion on how to spend a vacation in real comfort without fuss and feathers. He has capitalized on our natural surroundings as one of the best places to live and also to spend a vacation.

Who has another suggestion for a 5-gallon vacation?

Canyon Conditions are Dangerous; Precautions Taken

Quite a number of property owners were present at the Council meeting Tuesday evening to press their requests for the paving of Fairview. Dr. Simpson, speaking for the group, read a petition signed by all but three of the owners, having been unable to get in touch with them. He had signatures to 1950 of the 2200 feet frontage on the street. Several owners spoke in favor of the proposition.

U. S. Forester Tom Henderson addressed the Council on the grave fire menace existing, stating that this is the most serious potential fire season we have ever had. He spoke particularly of the danger in the Canyon, where if a fire starts all the homes in the Canyon will undoubtedly be wiped out. In addition, if the fire spreads to the mountain sides, it may ruin Sierra Madre, as without the protective cover heavy rains will wash down the sides until the houses on the north slopes of the city at least may eventually be covered with the decomposed granite of which the mountains are largely composed. This has happened in one or two other cities, similarly situated.

Mr. Henderson spoke particularly of the danger in the faulty electric lines and wiring, requesting that a letter be sent to the Edison Co. calling their attention to the fact that some wires, with the insulation worn off, are lying across the shingles on the roofs, creating a serious fire hazard.

Also, he said, the wiring in many houses and cabins are bare, coming in contact with cobwebs and with the bare wood. Conditions are especially bad in some parts of Cypress Ct., he said. Also many yards are cluttered with rubbish, dry grass, etc., and unless these conditions are cleared up there is bound to be a serious fire.

He recommended that Fire Chief James Heasley be appointed Fire Marshal and W. R. Lees, whose other duties prevent him from giving sufficient time to that of Fire Marshal, tendered his resignation and Heasley was appointed. Heasley was instructed to give warnings where fire hazards exist and if they are not obeyed to issue citations.

The shortage of help to clean up yards was cited as one reason for the conditions.

Street Commissioner Jos. Swanson submitted a report showing the amounts to be assessed lot owners where the city was obliged to clean them of weeds and rubbish.

A letter from the Tarr Land Co. requesting that the property donated for a Library be accepted by the city and the proper county officials notified, so that it might be removed from the tax roll, was read and proper measures were taken by the Council to meet the request.

Council adjourned to July 31 to consider the 1945-46 budget.

Horse Rescued in Canyon Fall

Dangerous Santa Anita Canyon caught a horse last week. Pedestrians and automobiles have been hauled up the steep banks recently, but it took a lot of men and a lot of rope to drag a horse up the canyon wall.

Lloyd Reed, 15, of Flintridge, literally lost his horse from under him as part of the trail gave way beneath the animal. He managed to throw himself clear and reported to the Ranger Station. He then anchored a 150-foot rope at the side of the trail and lowered himself, with food and water, to the animal during the time it was imprisoned at the foot of the cliff.

Members of the San Gabriel Valley Humane society assisted a mounted posse from Duarte in bringing the animal to the canyon rim. After placing a rope about the horse, the men had to drag and haul it up the canyon wall as it was unable to get a secure footing. The horse was only scratched and cut a bit and probably had the easiest time of all concerned.

EXPECTANT MOTHERS' CLASS CONDUCTED BY L. A. CO. HEALTH DEPT.

The meeting place for classes of expectant mothers conducted by the Los Angeles County Health department has been transferred from the Monrovia health center to the American Red Cross headquarters, 106 S. Myrtle Ave. (Monrovia), starting August 1.

This course of instruction, which is for all anticipating mothers or for those who will care for the new babies, will show how to bathe and care for the new baby, make the layette and bassinets, and discuss feeding formulas for the baby, and nutrition for its mother.

Nuptial Vows Spoken at Wee Kirk o' the Heather

The wedding of Joan Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Price, 863 Crestwood Terrace, Los Angeles, and Frank J. Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Adams, 265 San Gabriel Ct., was solemnized June 14 in the Wee Kirk o' the Heather at Forest Lawn. Rev. Earl Haney of the Presbyterian Church of Eagle Rock officiated.

The bride, a cadet nurse at the Huntington Memorial School of Nursing, wore an ivory satin gown. Her tulle veil was held in place by a pearl coronet and she carried a bouquet of gardenias and bouvardia. Her matron of honor was Mrs. Gerald Lea, assisted by bridesmaids, Patricia Jones and Mary Reeves. The best man was Dan Ryan with ushers Russell Pratty and Robert Lyon.

The bridegroom recently returned from 21 months' overseas duty in the U. S. Navy and is now stationed at San Pedro.

Local Man Injured in Auto Accident

Ernest R. Smith, 651 Woodland Dr., suffered a possible broken shoulder in an automobile accident last week when his car collided with another machine, the driver of which failed to stop at the corner of Alta Vista and Lemon Aves. in Monrovia.

The impact of the collision threw Smith's car into a parked machine, registered to Maxine Craig, 501 S. Alta Vista Dr., Monrovia.

Sarah Busby, sitting in the Craig car, was pinned in the machine and had to be extricated.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kumaus and Mr. and Mrs. John Henry of Los Angeles were entertained at the Albert Barkman home for dinner Thursday.

EVENING PROGRAM CLIMAXING BETHANY BIBLE SUMMER SCHOOL

Climaxing its 22nd session, the Bethany Summer Bible School will present an evening program on Friday, July 27, at 7:30 o'clock in the church auditorium.

It is anticipated with special interest because for the past several years this type program has been omitted from school activities. An important change is that of including the Beginners' department—nursery through first grade, which have formerly had their part in the morning.

The program will present a demonstration of work done during the school, and of the methods used in teaching.

The Beginners' theme will be "God's Love for Us and Our Love for God," and that of the Primary department, "Visiting Homes Where Bible Children Live." The Junior department has as its subject "Milestones in the Missionary Journeys of Paul," illustrated by flannelgraph scenes, explained by the pupils. The theme of the Intermediates, "Living for Jesus," which emphasizes practical Christian living, will be presented by means of Scripture, picture and music.

Special features of the program will include kodachrome slides of a Krara-Kraft Bible lesson, group singing, solo and duet numbers.

A cordial invitation is extended to the people of the community.

Old Letter Written in 1928 Still Good

A clipping from the Sierra Madre News was received last week by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Roberts from W. R. Humphries, former resident here, now living in Pasadena, with the following note: "Cheered up a little but still the truth lives. Best wishes for more hard work to you and yours. Hump! Retired but not tired." The letter was written and published when the Roberts opened a vegetable market where Hump's Liquor store is now located.

24 West Central Ave.,
March 8, 1928.

My dear Mr. and Mrs. Roberts:

The opening of your store a few doors away from my office (to be cast) is to me an event. Many of us don't know the details of a business like yours. I remember riding with you one morning about 2:30 to Los Angeles and watching you buy some fruits, etc., for your Sierra Madre store. At that time I learned that there are many qualities even in radishes.

I look back at the time you spent in selecting the materials that in a few hours would be offered to the residents of this charming foothill city. You told me at the time that you figured that the best was always the cheapest.

Selling the products of gardens and ranches of our country is a clean, nice business—just the

Care in Seeding First Step To Garden Success

Careful seeding is one of the most important steps in growing a garden. The soil should be thoroughly irrigated before sowing begins. Irregular germination is probably caused in most instances by a lack of moisture. Germination results from heat and moisture, and during the summer the sun's rays usually generate sufficient heat to start germination. The matter of providing water thus becomes the gardener's personal problem.

Check plots should be established in the area where the seeds are to be started. They may measure approximately seven by eight feet square although the exact size will be determined by the dimensions of your garden. These check plots should be limited at the borders by walls of dirt from seven to nine inches high. The plots should then be filled with water so that the entire section receives a thorough flooding. If necessary the check plots should be flooded two or three times. From this point the land ought to be allowed to mellow for several days after which it may be spaded and raked finely.

If the double row or raised bed method of planting is to be followed furrows should be dug about thirty inches apart and five to six inches deep. The seed should be sown on the shoulder of the bed about one inch back from the furrow. There should be sufficient moisture in the soil to germinate the seed and bring the seedling above the surface. If the bed appears to dry out before the seedlings appear then run water slowly through the furrows, allowing it to penetrate laterally so that the roots will receive the necessary moisture. Be careful that the water does not flood over the tops of the seed beds. Should this occur the face will bake and harden, thus making it exceedingly difficult for the seedlings to push above the ground.

If the ground has been properly prepared and the seeds possess good germinating qualities then success will be yours. Don't waste seed just because a packet costs but a few cents. Heavy sowing means that more plants will have to be pricked out and either transplanted or thrown away. Be sure to allow sufficient room in your proposed Victory Garden for the transplants.

Vegetable seedlings may be transplanted after approximately three inches of growth has been completed. Transplant on a cloudy day if possible, taking great care to see that the roots are not allowed to dry out. Read carefully the instructions on the packets in which the seeds are packed. Valuable planting instructions will be found. You will hasten germination in many instances by soaking the seed for several hours prior to planting. Parsley seed is one type that reacts very favorably to this sort of treatment.

Pilgrimage Play is Drawing Big Crowds

Starting its 19th season in the Hollywood Pilgrimage Bowl, the famed Pilgrimage Play opened this year July 11 to a capacity audience.

Nelson Leigh, who has portrayed the Christ during the last four seasons, again plays the title role, supported by a cast of 125 people, in this famous dramatic production.

Due to improved parking facilities and transportation service, it is estimated that thousands who have not seen this story of the life of the Christ will make the "pilgrimage" this year. Also it is announced by the management that the steep climb to the amphitheatre has been eliminated due to a new road direct to the bowl with busses running from the parking lot so it will not be necessary to walk to the entrance.

Tuesday night, July 31, has been set aside for the residents of Sierra Madre. All seats are reserved, so come early and obtain your tickets for Tuesday night.

Two important new railroad travel restrictions have been ordered by the U. S. Office of Defense Transportation.

Under O. D. T. Order #52, you cannot reserve a train berth or seat more than five days in advance.

Under O. D. T. Order #53, all Pullman sleeping cars operating for 450 miles or less have been discontinued.

How you are affected by new O. D. T. Travel Rules

These two orders apply to all railroads. Admittedly, they are drastic—but vitally necessary. Additional sleeping cars must be made available for veterans returning from Europe for discharge or for redeployment to the Pacific.

While these regulations will cause some inconvenience, we feel sure everyone will approve the effort to serve better the men from overseas to whom we owe so much. We know that the families of boys who are coming home will have no question as to the merits of the orders.

As far as Southern Pacific is concerned, our guiding principle has been "the military comes first," and we are cooperating one hundred percent in carrying out the O. D. T. orders—in letter, and in spirit.

With nearly twenty thousand S. P. men and women in the armed forces, we, too, have a real and personal interest in the welfare and comfort of service men and women.

New Ration Book 5 Due in December

War Ration Book No. 5 is on its way, and will be distributed through the public schools in December, Frank S. Balthis Jr., OPA district director, announced today. Simultaneously with the distribution, the new "A" gasoline book will be issued, Balthis stated.

Smaller than a dollar bill, about the size of a small check book, and containing just half as many stamps as the last book, the new food and shoe ration book will prove more convenient to carry and handle, the official pointed out.

Distribution will take place throughout the nation from December 3 through December 15. OPA district offices will fix the exact time for each local area. The new "A" gasoline books will go into use December 22, and war ration book 5 will be used soon after the first of the year for food rationing and for rationing shoes.

"We hope the new book will be the last in the series of wartime ration books, and that there will be plenty of stamps we won't have to use. We cannot gamble too heavily on that, though, since so many months are required to bring a book into being," he said.

The new all-purpose ration book is exactly one-half the size of the present ration books (books 3 and 4), and contains 192 stamps as compared with 384 in book 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. Hopper have a picture of their grandson, Thornton Edwards, 8 1/2, of which they are very proud. It was used for posters, shown in Southern States, being titled, "A Study in Concentration." The young man is in the South Pacific on a destroyer. He has visited in Sierra Madre many times and is the possessor of seven battle stars.

Lt. (jg.) L. E. Perry in a letter to his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Dodge, makes an interesting statement, in part: "The end of the Okinawa campaign was a relief to us all. Everyone here expects the Nip to fight to the bitter end and for the ferocity of battle to become more intense as we close in on his homeland. Would that this thought were wrong—that the 'unpredictable' Jap will hold the preservation of his sacred land intact above 'losing face'—Or that, as you think, Russia will actively intervene. Frankly, among the service men there seems little hope for either possibility."

Louis Wax, 215 N. Sunnyside Ave., now serving in the Navy, has advanced to aviation radio-man 2/c. He is on board one of the nation's largest aircraft carriers helping take the war direct to Japan, and flies missions against the Japanese as radio-man-gunner in Torpedo Squadron 85.

Nancy Holmes SUGGESTS

QUICK kitchen tricks are the joy of every housewife. Anything to shorten household duties is the cry of these women who have so little time to be foot loose and fancy free in wartime days. Nancy Holmes of the Best Foods kitchens suggests meal-in-one dishes as a professional trick in time economy. No magician trick is ever more thrilling when he produced a rabbit from a top hat than you'll be to pull a delicious whole meal dish from the oven—all ready to serve as is. To start you off on the right track Nancy gives one of her favorite oven-dinner recipes. With a citrus fruit salad and a dessert of cheese and crackers you'll have prepared a meal in magic time.

Corn-Lima Casserole
1/4 cup onion, chopped
1/2 cup vitaminized soup
1/2 cup margarine
1 1/2 cups corn
2 cups cooked lima beans
3 cups cooked string beans
Sauté onion in vitaminized margarine. Add vegetables (which may be left-over), soup, water and pepper. Mix well. Pour into a large shallow greased casserole. Top with Liverwurst Pinwheels. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

Liverwurst Pinwheels
2 cups sifted enriched flour
4 teaspoons vitaminized margarine
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1 pound liverwurst
mashed
Sift flour, baking powder and salt together 3 times. Cut in margarine with a pastry blender or fork. Add milk and toss lightly until soft dough is formed. Knead on lightly floured board until smooth on 1 side. Roll into a 6 x 12 inch rectangle. Spread with liverwurst. Roll up as for jelly roll. Cut into 1 inch slices. Place on top of vegetables and bake.

The Frog TALKS about ROBERTS MARKET and Things!

"Five things observe with care; Of whom you speak, To whom you speak, And how, and when and where."

Folks, I can't help but hear you all saying: "How do they expect me to can any fruit when they allow me only 10 lbs. of sugar per person for canning?"

I would like to give you the correct data on this sugar situation as published in the July issue of the Progressive Grocer. "Reserve sugar stocks of the Nation are exhausted. The sugar supplies from the present major producing areas,—Porto Rico and Cuba—are disrupted because of drought and labor troubles during the past year. The sugar situation looks tough for at least another year."

Now what I would like to present to you is this—we have six substitutes for sugar and I would like to give you the government formula.

Government Sweetening Table

Sweetness equal to one cup of refined sugar:

Maple sugar.....	1 cup
Maple syrup.....	1 cup
Honey.....	1 cup
Sorghum.....	1 1/2 cups
Cane syrup.....	1 1/2 cups
Corn syrup.....	2 cups

For information pertaining to sugar-saving recipes for home canning write to U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, Wash., D.C., for Booklet No. A W 1-93 "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables," which is now available. Manufacturers of corn syrups, molasses and other sweeteners also have the booklets for the asking. "Seek and ye shall find."

Now as to the part I play in this home canning procedure—housewives have been asking—when will peaches be ready for canning? My department can give you good ELBERTA FREE-STONE PEACHES at 8c per lb. per lug. The average weight per lug is 24 lbs.

We now have Gower Nectarines—freestones—much easier to eat than the cling variety.

The big special for the week is CUCUMBERS—75c per lug.

These make marvelous bread-and-butter pickles; also dill pickles—and we have the dill. Have any of you housewives ever made dill pickles of long green Kentucky Wonder Beans? They are the King of dill pickles. Ask Mom for the recipe.

Our WATERMELONS are tops (guaranteed, you know).

CRENSHAW MELONS are available now—the price is lower than ever before—the quality is above average—piece-de-resistance.

Curly asked me to tell you he now has a complete unit for coffee jars. We also have jelly glasses—both pint and quart jars—Jiffy Seal and paraffin, Certo and other aids to jelly-making.

For those SUMMER BEVERAGES you might try our Sherry, Port, Angelica, Muscatel wines mixed with carbonated water. This makes a nice refreshing drink. No shortage of carbonated water.

The Trinity Vine at San Gabriel, California, planted by the Franciscan Fathers in 1775, nearly 170 years ago, is still bearing grapes. Their vision created a marvelous industry for California.

The reason is simple—some cars are driven a lot, others are given but little mileage each month. Both, however, require regular servicing. Ford Protective Service is the best method we know to make sure cars get regular, systematic attention by expert mechanics. Regardless of car mileage, it provides an automatic check-up every 30 days.

WARTIME HOMEMAKER

CLEAN KITCHENS SEEM COOLER

By the HOMEMAKING SPECIALISTS of the General Electric Consumers Institute

Cool and clean kitchens in the summer seem to make the hot days more bearable. Every conscientious homemaker likes to know ways in which to shorten her hours of scouring and the quickest (at the same time, the best) ways to brighten up the room, make her meals more attractive yet easy to prepare. You want to know ways, too, in which to keep your foods fresh during hot weather.

Yes, there's time for relaxation in the porch swing, or playing with the baby on the cool tree-shaded lawn, because the General Electric Consumers Institute experts pass on for your work-saving benefit these timely tips:

The right care for utensils and appliances can mean much energy and time saved in the routine housekeeping duties!

Coffee Pots

To keep a coffee pot sparkling inside as well as out, occasionally boil a solution of baking soda and water in the pot for about 5 minutes, then rinse thoroughly in boiling water.

Waffle Irons

Never wash a waffle iron! Use a dry small stiff brush to clean the grids if it should stick while baking. Then using an unsalted cooking fat, grease grids lightly with a pastry brush before baking again.

Run about 1 inch of cool water into the burnt or greasy pan. Add 1 teaspoon washing soda, put a cover on the pan and let it heat to the boiling point.

Wooden Bowls

Never soak wooden utensils in water. Wash them quickly and thoroughly in hot soapy water, rinse and wipe dry.

Egg Beater

Avoid putting the cogs of the egg beater in water. Rinse the spokes under cold water first, then wash only the spokes with your dishes.

Flour Sifter

Keep the sifter in the flour bin, or in a paper bag so it will keep clean from one time to the next without having to be washed each time.

Food Chopper

Take the food chopper apart after using and wash each part thoroughly in hot soapy water. Be sure each part is absolutely dry before reassembling.

HELPFUL HINTS

—If your recipe calls for cake flour and you have only bread flour in the house, sift it 5 times before measuring, and use two tablespoons per cup less than the amount of cake flour called for.

—To prolong freshness, store coffee (tightly sealed) and bread (carefully wrapped) in your refrigerator.

—For use in making soups, keep the extra juices from cooked or canned vegetables in a jar in your refrigerator.

—To cut hard cooked eggs without breaking the yolk, dip the knife first in hot water.

Assorted Sundae Tray

HERE'S a grand innovation in casual entertaining. It's simple and inexpensive and certain to please. Pass this Sundae Tray of assorted sauces and garnishes... the makings of several different sundaes. For our photograph, we selected Frozen Coffee Mousse for the ice cream and served tall glasses of full strength, frosty iced coffee. The "trimmings" for the sundaes are nuts, sliced peaches and cherries sweetened with honey.

You've no idea what a hit you'll make with a tray of ice cream and choice of sundaes "makings." Such a simple trick, out different and delicious. And for the ice cream, try Frozen Coffee Mousse. It will melt in your mouth and it only requires one-fourth cup of sugar for one quart. You always want a drink after eating ice cream, so serve large glasses of refreshing iced coffee. It's sure to satisfy. Here is the recipe for Frozen Coffee Mousse. It's tested, of course.

Frozen Coffee Mousse
1 cup milk, scalded
1/2 cup ground coffee
1 tablespoon gelatin
1 cup cold milk
1/2 cup sugar
Dash of salt
Scald milk in top of double boiler and add coffee. Cover and let stand 15 minutes. Strain through 2 thicknesses of wet cheesecloth and return to top of double boiler. Soften gelatin in cold milk about 5 minutes and stir over hot water until dissolved. Add sugar, salt and corn syrup and stir until sugar is dissolved. Add coffee-milk, and place in refrigerator until mixture is syrupy. Fold into whipped chilled evaporated milk or cream and then into egg whites. Place in tray in refrigerator and freeze with control set very low about 30 minutes until frozen for 1/4 inch around sides of tray. Remove from refrigerator and scrape into bowl and beat with rotary or electric beater until well blended. Return to refrigerator tray and freeze about 2 hours until set. Yield: 1 quart.

RATIONING OF GAS STOVES ENDS JULY 31

Gas cooking and heating stoves will go off rationing July 31, the OPA and the WPB announced today in a joint statement. These stoves had been rationed since August 24, 1943, with only those holding certificates being eligible to purchase them.

However, oil-gas combinations, oil cooking and oil heating stoves and combination oil-gas stoves will continue to be rationed. Persons now holding certificates for stoves or who receive certificates between now and July 31—time set for the end of rationing of the stoves—will, it was made clear, be served by dealers before other purchasers get their certificate-free.

"MARY OF SCOTLAND" AT PASADENA PLAYHOUSE

Maxwell Anderson's sweeping and brilliant play, "Mary of Scotland," is at Pasadena Playhouse stage till July 29 as the fifth footlight entry in the current Midsummer Drama Festival series.

Anger wrought upon Mary by the jealous Queen Elizabeth, spurred by the beauty and legitimate claim to England's throne by Mary, creates the diabolical plots that end in her prison cell.

The brave and blunt Earl of Bothwell, the weakling Darnley, the resolute Earls of Scotland and Knox, the fanatical anti-Catholic, weave into the historical pattern of Anderson's great play of the tragic Mary.

With the staging of "Mary of Scotland," Anderson becomes the first playwright to be three times represented in Playhouse Drama Festival lists. His "Night Over Taos" came in the Great South-west series of 1937 and a full Festival was dedicated to him in 1939.

MORE RATIONED FOODS ISSUED FOR ILLNESS

Local war price and rationing boards are being given more authority to issue extra food rations to persons who need them because of illness. Boards have been granting such rations on basis of a chart prepared by a committee of the national research council, but extra rations for illnesses other than those listed on the chart have had to have the approval of the district or regional medical committee. Under the new plan, the boards may be instructed to issue more rationed foods than are listed on the chart for various illnesses, and issue specified amounts of rationed foods for diseases other than those listed. To apply for additional food rations for medical reasons, the person needing them, and his physician, fill out a simple form that gives OPA the necessary information.

Ask the Professor

By H. F. Noake

Dear Professor:

I hear a lot of people say "I done it." Now isn't "I did it" better grammar?

Ans.: Heavens, no, Joe. "I dood it" has supplanted both.

Dear Professor:

In Shakespeare's time, to be or not to be was the question. What's the biggest question today?

Ans.: I-A or not I-A.

Dear Professor:

Just what are parasites?

Ans.: Two fat women, in slacks, on bicycles.

Dear Professor:

Just what is your idea of a Plutocrat?

Ans.: A Plutocrat is one who regularly follows the antics of a certain hound in the funny papers.

AROUND AND ABOUT

By EDWARD LLOYD VOORHEES

MARSEILLES — Mediterranean's greatest port—L. Unless one is detained by business, one day and night in Marseilles is enough. The city is noisier than New York, and all it lacks to make it the ideal pandemonium is the addition of the elevated street railways which still make cacophonous racket in midair at regular intervals day and night in our proud Metropolis. In Marseilles the trams, motor horns, the hammerings on the many new constructions keep the whole downtown district in a continual uproar that is deafening—although I did miss the sound of the mechanical riveting hammers which constantly split the ears of the groundlings in all parts of Manhattan. And Marseilles can stand up to New York in other ways than noise, for she had just doubled her population in 30 years, to 900,000, and this ancient port—whose history goes back to about 600 B.C., when the Greeks founded it as Massalia, defended it against the Carthaginians, only to yield it to the Roman empire of Julius Caesar—is the largest and most important port in Mare Nostrum ("Our Sea"), as the Latin countries still affectionately term the Mediterranean, in spite of certain obviously contravening facts.

It proved a wise thing that I took the sightseeing bus as soon as I was settled at my hotel, for the panoramic view of the city while we were in transit satisfied completely any curiosity I might have retained about points of interest I would have suspected I had missed in merely sauntering about on foot. When our huge sight-seeing bus reached the center of the city the traffic was almost impossible to negotiate, even for our clever French chauffeur. At one corner of a narrow street our excellent guide climbed down to ask a chauffeur to move his taxi like a catamount, and before our chauffeur could descend to his aid, the enraged taxi man had scratched two large pieces of skin from our guide's left cheek. Our bus chauffeur now sprang to help our guide, and without losing his sunny temper merely seized the taxi man's arms and held them steadily, remarking with him quietly while the guide, who was much older than either, backed away, nursing his wounds. Then the taxi man glumly got into his cab and moved around the corner. Liberty and Equality, if not Fraternity, had been demonstrated!

Marseilles is a strictly modern city, there being unusually few remains of ancient, or even medieval, structures. But one is impressed by the facade of the Palais Long Champs, one of the few beautiful examples of neoclassic architecture in Marseilles. Indeed it is said to be one of the finest of its kind in Europe—consisting as it does of two marble wings connected at their rear by a gracefully curved Ionic colonnade with a triumphal arch at the center point through which descends a copious cascade of foaming white waters from the high wooded terraces of the Zoological Gardens on the heights far above. The two wings house the Museum of Fine Arts and the Museum of Natural History. The whole group is a striking illustration of the ability of the French to combine beauty and utility on a grand scale—though France, too, has its exceptions.

We visited the Old Harbor, flanked by Fort St. Jean and Fort St. Nicholas, from which one has a fine view of the panorama of Marseilles, its ascent up the hills to the northeast, some bare and hard, others wooded, and to the west the steep, narrow and dark streets of the older part of the city, where live the seafaring people. On a 50-metre-high suspension ferry which spans the channel to the outer, larger modern harbor, we crossed and drove up the great height, where stands the famous Notre-Dame de la Garde. The highest point in Marseilles, this church is crowned by a ton-heavy but nevertheless impressive gilded statue of the Virgin and Child, 30 feet high and 150 feet above the ground, her hands in attitude of benediction over the harbor. The interior walls of the church are covered close with crude paintings, framed and unframed, presented as thank offerings to the Virgin by grateful mariners for saving their lives in various disasters at sea. Each painting graphically portrays the particular incident in which the sailor was snatched from death. We also visited near the harbor the largest church built in the 19th century. St. Mary la Major, 460 feet long, in the form of a Roman cross, the exterior of green Florentine marble and white stone from Arles, blended to give the effect of stripes. Its four towers are topped with cupolas and the interior is florid with marble and gold. The total effect is beautiful, and its size is impressive for its reputed seating capacity of 12,000. Its high vaulted interior walls throw back an echo which is audible for 20 seconds.

The new harbor was crowded with a forest of ships of every category, and the activity of the quick, sturdy, vociferous and gesticulating French sailors—and indeed, sailors from every country between the Magnetic Poles—reminded us that the World's Business was going forward at a terrific rate while we idlers merely looked on, spending our Unearned Increment, sou by sou. By this time the heat, the noise, the dust, and the general hullabaloo had reduced me to a state of semi-torpidity and stupidity. In this I seemed to be at one with my sight-seeing companions. Evening was coming on and we were glad to get back to our hotels, running water, and Bouillabaisse (fish chowder, if you prefer)!

Avocado of New Type Announced

Successful propagation of a new type avocado—the Arturo—bearing fruit which boasts a seed only half the size of that found in ordinary varieties has been announced by Harry E. Rosedale, nationally known Southern California horticulturist and nurseryman.

A medium-size tree, the Arturo is a heavy, consistent bearer of fruit which compares in richness of flavor to the famed Fuerte—considered by many experts to be the finest of the avocados. The fruit is said to contain the highest oil content of any type. In addition, the Arturo has the distinction of being one of the rare types of avocados to ripen during the entire fall and early winter months. Its normal bearing season is from September through December.

Garden lovers who are ever on the alert to combine the practical with the beautiful will thrill to the many advantages offered by this new horticultural achievement. Mr. Rosedale predicted. An extremely hardy plant, more resistant to cold and frost than other varieties, the Arturo is also a vigorous and rapid grower. Mr. Rosedale pointed out that it has an especial appeal for those who dislike the bothersome task of pruning, as it develops uniformly into a gracefully formed tree which retains its shape for many years.

"Those who have been searching for a bearer of really delicious fruit which does double duty as a colorful ornamental are sure to welcome the Arturo Avocado," Mr. Rosedale said. "We are subjecting it to extensive tests in the plant laboratory on our home nursery grounds in Monrovia where so far we have been unable to disprove any claims made by its propagator. In fact, we are so delighted with the results of these tests that we plan to make Arturo stock available to the public next January."

FIRE FLAMES

Dear Fellows:

I had no trouble getting a place to stay for the duration of my short vacation. We are stopping in the most restful cottage I have ever rested in. It is situated on the side of a hill, very high above a large, wide valley. We can look far across this valley and see gardens, trees and cities in the distance. In order to get to the cottage, we must pass through a pretty canyon where there are many natural trees and mountain homes. A swimming pool has been built directly in the stream channel and is one of the most unique pools in the United States. Really, fellows, I'm not kidding when I say the country around this cottage is most beautiful. The part I like best is the comfort of the home in which we are staying. There is fine water pressure, piped to all parts of the property. It is extra good-tasting water too. We have the convenience of natural gas to cook with, a refrigerator that freezes ice cubes and keeps the food from spoiling. There are fine trails nearby to take an early morning hike higher into the mountains if one so desires and roads for your car if you prefer. A running stream is within a short hike. There are fish in the stream, but they don't happen to bother me, so I leave them alone. If they annoyed by sleep, I would probably throw a few rocks at 'em. My main enjoyment is to stretch out across one of the most comfortable beds a man could ever imagine and let the rest of the world go by. What matters if I do fall off to sleep and dream for an hour or two or three? It is so quiet around the house that I can listen to the ticking of my watch until dream-land overtakes me. The only thing to mar this perfect picture of contentment is to have something or other come up to remind you that the fire season is on. Wouldn't it be a pity to have this demon interrupt or destroy such a wonderful setting?

We are located close to a small city that is more like a village, although it has quite a large population. It is fun to walk into town and mix with the villagers. All the folks who are in business seem to know each other and just because two of them might happen to be in the same business does not prevent them from assisting each other when help is needed. To walk along the sidewalks of the business district is like being far away in a strange country. It is much different than it is in just ordinary work days when one sees it through dark-colored glasses. Vacation time puts a much different light on it. From where we are, we can pick or choose any sort of amusement that we may desire. In less than an hour, we can be at the seashore or if we want to get where it is really cold, we can in a short time reach heights in the mountains where breezes demand heavy clothing for comfort.

If I were a writer, there are so many things to be told about this locality that I would write a book. As it is, I only hope that everyone can take time to relax in such comfort—and that we as firemen are successful in keeping down fires.

Had it not been for the shortage of gasoline, I doubt if I would ever have raved so much about a vacation. I perhaps never would have realized that to stay at home was really so restful and so much fun. I probably would not have learned that Sierra Madre is a wonderful place to spend a vacation. After having experienced the discomfort of cabins, tents, sleeping bags and what not, I have at last come to the conclusion that my own bed is just about the best there is. So, fellows, let's work hard to keep down fires and preserve the best little town in the good old U.S.A. Keep the FIRES OUT. My apologies to "FIRE FLAMES." Sincerely yours, Jim.

When Worst Came

The following note was taken from a German prisoner of war by a lieutenant of the U.S. Army and brought to Sierra Madre before he had it translated. The author evidently had in mind a more tragic end than being taken.

"Dear Toni:

"When you get these lines I am over the worst. The last 10 days only bombs and artillery shooting. Good thing that after this sad and tragic life another one is coming. I am in peace with God and I hope He has forgiven me.

"Farewell, WILLIE."

OFFICE OF DEFENSE TRANSPORTATION
GENERAL ORDER 52

Effective 12:01 am, June 30, 1945

"No carrier shall reserve, assign or allocate seating or sleeping space on a passenger train more than 120 hours in advance of scheduled departure time of such train. No carrier shall issue a ticket for a reserved seat or sleeping space on a passenger train more than 120 hours in advance of scheduled departure of such train, except in the case of tickets for reservations made prior to the effective date of this Order which have not been picked up."

OFFICE OF DEFENSE TRANSPORTATION
GENERAL ORDER 53

"On and after 12 o'clock noon, July 15, 1945, no common carrier by railroad or sleeping car company shall operate or transport any railway car containing sleeping space or sleeping accommodations to a point of distance 450 miles or less from the point of origin of such car, such distance being measured by the shortest distance by railroad over which sleeping cars are operated between such points. Each common carrier by railroad shall forthwith cancel all reservations for space after 12 o'clock noon on July 15, 1945."

What about Travel now....

under the new Government rulings?

The Government has curtailed civilian travel by ordering the railroads not to make reservations on passenger trains more than five days in advance of departure and by banning sleeping car service on trips of 450 miles or less.

A lot of people are assuming that, with the European war over, the travel situation on trains should have eased up by now.

But they are finding out that it's harder than ever to get space. They're asking themselves, "Why?"

The reason is simply that the railroads are being called upon to repeat a job of moving over 3,000,000 soldiers. But this time it is to be done in 6 to 9 months whereas originally it took more than 2 years to move these men.

The railroads are still operating with the same number of passenger cars that they had when the war started. Building new passenger cars has not been permitted since Pearl Harbor.

Many Pullman cars have been converted into hospital cars, and, of course, more Pullmans and coaches than ever are being withdrawn from civilian service to use in the movement of men to the Pacific.

The great bulk of traffic for the Pacific funnels into 4 railroads to ports of embarkation in California. Santa Fe, with its improved facilities, is carrying a large part of this traffic.

This all adds up to the fact that only a very limited amount of space is left over for civilian travel.

Of course we like to accommodate our friends and make new acquaintances. But you, too, agree that the troops and materials needed to whip Japan must come first.

New cars are now on order. Santa Fe has enough new chair cars on order to seat 3186 people. 16 new lunch counter-diners are also on order. A substantial number of new sleeping cars will be placed in service on the Santa Fe as soon as War Production Board orders permit.

tion and while considering the absorption of this new territory, the most conservative estimate will disclose the fact that such a new business district through strategic selling advantages, will not only draw the patronage of its immediate vicinity, but will also draw others from more distant points.

There is no yardstick, of course, which will measure for all lines of business, and the buying habits of a large group must be taken into account. It is likely, however, that the residents located in the older part of Sierra Madre will continue to support the present business concerns located here for the past many years, but we should not look for a measurable increase of business to these stores.

Generally speaking the annexation of the Hastings Ranch will improve the taxable assets of Sierra Madre. The older part of the city, however, must look to its own laurels to provide for future growth. In this respect, certain types of manufacturing may be adapted for post-war employment. Such types of manufacturing that can meet competition from other parts of the Southland. This may be possible through the reduction of operating and overhead costs and the elimination of waste in time and material.

In conclusion, however, it must be pointed out, that the past and potential values of Sierra Madre lie in its natural beauty, its aloofness from the larger cities and this very seclusion makes it more attractive and important to the rest of the world.

WEED KILLER NOW BEING TESTED AT U.C.

A new weed killer, 2, 4-D, gives promise of being one of the most important chemicals in weed control, and is now undergoing extensive tests, according to W. A. Harvey, associate in the experiment station on the Davis campus of the University of California. The mode of action of this killer is entirely different from previous ones, Harvey points out, inasmuch as it kills the roots as well as the tops.

Of the perennial weeds tested, morning-glory is one of the easiest to kill, along with Canada thistle, he says. White top is somewhat more difficult; Russian knapweed is hard to wet, so that the chemical is not always effective. Grasses, in general, are much more resistant to the spray than are broad-leaved plants, so the chemical can be used on the lawn to kill dandelions and plantain.

Fence Posts

Before fence posts are sunk into the ground, the parts to remain below the surface should be thoroughly soaked in creosote or double coated with this material, after which a coat of asphalt paint may be applied. Such treatment will prevent rotting and destruction of the wood by insects. If the upper part of the posts is free from bark, they may also be painted any desired color for further protection, and to dress up the property.

WHOLE BLOOD KEY TO SURGERY MIRACLES

Transfusion of whole blood in battle-front surgery is perhaps the most important factor in saving the lives of the severely wounded, according to Dr. H. Glenn Bell, associate professor of surgery on the San Francisco campus of the University of California.

The so-called miracles of modern surgery, which are occurring now at the front, are a result of three things: well-trained surgeons, young, healthy patients received soon after being wounded, and unlimited quantities of whole blood, Dr. Bell says.

"A former student of surgery at the University Hospital wrote me about a patient of his on Okinawa," Dr. Bell discloses. "The boy was wounded by a shell fragment which tore a big hole in his shoulder and chest, went through his diaphragm, ruptured his spleen, lacerated his left kidney, and punctured his intestines. He was given three transfusions before surgery, five during the operation, and two immediately following. He was out of bed on his first post-operative day and was all over the ward on the sixth post-operative day.

"Without whole blood, there is no question but that this patient would be dead," Dr. Bell concludes.
